

Argentina

Randy spoke about his trip to Argentina (with Patagonia River Guides) in the February 2014 meeting. He is currently caught up with lots of other tasks, so could offer only a limited set of notes. See their website for lots of impressive imagery

<http://www.patagoniariverguides.com/>

Bill, I thought you might be interested in the new PRG info. I have fished with most of the boys, but have not done the North estancias.

Rio Pico was a real trip, alone on the Rio Pico with Linds and big John, 40ish fish for the day.

The Glamping option developed from our trip last year.

I just booked to BA with Qantas. It is about $2300 now, but can double around Christmas. I don't know what the internal flight was to Esquel. but it was from BA on LAN.

Best advice for connecting to guides in San Martin de los Andes, in Neuquen, Argentina is to contact Niccolo Baldeschi Balleani (Nicco). He can be contacted via LinkedIn, or via <http://www.flyfishingitaly.com/index.html> (his winter company). Let him know you are a friend of mine, he should remember me from our trip down Rio Limay.

Randy

The 2014 fishing season has come to a close and we are busy planning and accepting bookings for 2015. Please click HERE to see our completely new 2015 Brochure with information on all of our new programs and exciting options in Patagonia. Inside you will see information on refined programs at PRG North and a new lodging option in Rio Pico - PRG at Tres Valles Lodge. Never before have there been so many options or a better time to visit Patagonia with six weekly flights to Esquel and San Martin de los Andes scheduled for 2015!

PRG offers awesome programs from mid-November to May with early season pricing prior to January 1st for those looking to save a few bucks. Need a reason to get out winter? November and December provide opportunities to surprise the family with a memorable Thanksgiving or Christmas trip! Other great ideas....take your kids fishing during winter break, spring break, or Easter; book an unforgettable corporate rewards trip for important clients and employees; or even plan a bachelor party, unforgettable honeymoon, surprise birthday party, or couples trip.

Repeat bookings are strong and some lodges are already filling up, so CONTACT US today to get a prime time spot for 2015.

Copyright © 2014 Patagonia River Guides, All rights reserved.

We send special emails to flyfishermen that have opted in at our website or have requested to receive more information at a trade show, event, or in person.

Our mailing address is:

Patagonia River Guides
2000 Peck Lane
Melrose, MT 59743
USA