Tale Out.

The fly anglers' journal of adventure.
Defined by experience.

Tale Out was catalysed by a passion for the stories of fly fishing, in its many and varied forms.

We believe that quality tales happen continuously in fly fishing, but they are not limited to being on the water. Tale Out tells stories of adventure.

Ours is a community to ignite a passion for adventure and inspire others into fly fishing.

Tale Out is the fly anglers' online home of adventure. Diverse stories from the best locations across the world, published weekly in our online journal.

Welcome to Tale Out.

Australia's highest trout

Written by Andrew Wilson and Steve Campbell. The article features a review of Australia's highest trout fishery.

Located in a cool climate, it's hard to be adaptable, and hard to control on any given day. The journey is a long one, and the rewards are worth the effort.

We followed a track up an open-floored valley, tussocks and the occasional patch of trees indicating the line of the river. When we arrived I was promptly told it was both lower and clearer than the day before, after a third consecutive day of rain (a rarity in the Spring of 2022). Suddenly cynical, I muttered 'I'll take your word for it'. It didn't look especially clear or low to me, and the boggy trudge across the flats we had just endured suggested to me that there was still plenty of the damp stuff around. I had rapidly become certain that this was to be the number of all stich ups.
